

PERFECT

I am someone tried and true,
I'm sure you'd like to know me.
They tell me I'm a perfect child,
Grown-ups want to own me.

I'm honest as the day is long,
Just as sweet as pie.
Good as gold, right as rain,
The apple of your eye.

I'm just as quick as lightning,
Busy as a bee I am,
Pretty as a picture,
And as happy as a clam.

I'm quiet as a door mouse.
Sharp as any tack,
Bright as a new penny,
Wise as an owl in fact.

And then the other side of me,
As stubborn as a mule,
Mean as any junkyard dog,
Breaking every rule.

Angry as an old, wet hen,
Sly as any fox,
Crazy as a bedbug,
A face for stopping clocks!

As slippery as an eel,
Sneaky as a snake,
Mad as any hornet,
Nutty as a fruitcake.

Now you know both sides,
The sour and the sweet,
Which one of the two of me,
Would you like to meet?
