

The U.S. Government

Review the sections of, the amendments to, and the people involved with the U.S. Government. Read more about it in books, encyclopedias, and on Internet sites to complete these activities. Verify your facts with 3 sources.

Student Points
---------------------------	--

Teacher Points
---------------------------	--

ANALYSIS Choose one of the following:

- Develop a questionnaire to vet a candidate for Supreme Court.
- Chart/graph the home states of Presidents and Vice Presidents. Detect patterns and themes.
- Compare and contrast the duties of the House of Representatives and the Senate.

	Historian	Author	Hero to Your People
	1	2	3	4
Analysis
Questionnaire	Less than 10 questions; questions do not pertain to the subject	10-15 questions; some questions do not pertain to the subject	16-20 questions; questions pertain to the subject	21+ questions pertain to the subject; questions would make the author(s) think and reflect; questionnaire is professional and organized
OR
Chart/graph home states of the Presidents/ Vice Presidents	Graph not labeled or titled; data is not accurately shown; not neat	Graph labeled; titled; most of the data is accurately shown; not neat; lacks color	Graph correctly labeled; titled; data is accurately shown; some patterns and themes explained; neat; colorful	Graph correctly labeled; titled; all data is recorded accurately; clear and easy to understand; colorful; patterns and themes explained
OR
Compare/Contrast duties using a Venn diagram	House and Senate compared/contrasted; Venn format is not clear; OR the information is not accurate	House and Senate compared/contrasted in 2-4 ways accurately	House and Senate compared/contrasted in 4-5 ways accurately	House and Senate compared/contrasted in more than 5 accurate, carefully detailed ways