

“Likes and Dislikes”

A. Your attitude about anything plays a big part in how you will perform in any situation. If you have the attitude that you will do your best and, if that isn't good enough, that you will try your hardest to improve, you'll always come out on top. Even if you'll never be as good as some others in what you are trying to do, everyone will admire and respect you.

We are all different, however. We have different abilities and different likes and dislikes. Is it easier to try to like something than it is to improve your ability to read, run, write, play an instrument, talk in front of people, and the like? Why or why not?

B. Is it all right to:

- 1. like school? _____
- 2. like your principal? _____
- 3. like your teachers? _____
- 4. dislike chores? _____
- 5. dislike sports? _____
- 6. like sports but dislike professional sports? _____
- 7. dislike computers? _____
- 8. like pink? _____
- 9. dislike brown? _____
- 10. hate the police? _____
- 11. hate anyone? _____
- 12. love everyone? _____
