

Just a Dream

Bloom's Taxonomy Cube

Knowledge Where are all of the places that the boy's bed took him? Make a list.	Comprehension How are the pictures important to this book? Do they help you predict the next page? Go through the book again, and write what you think the pictures are telling us. What lessons are they teaching us?
	Application Is there anything in this book that reminds you of our world today? Create a newspaper article entitled "Is It a Dream?" showing how events in this book are similar to our world today. Use examples from the news.
	Analysis Why did Chris Van Allsburg write this book? What is he trying to tell us? Create a "Warning" Poster stating why we need to pay attention to this book.	Synthesis Create a "How to Protect Our Earth" handbook teaching people how to keep our earth clean.
	Evaluation Is this book realistic? Could pollution today really make our Earth turn out that badly in the future? Write a letter to a factory or other source of pollution from today. In it, explain whether or not you feel that pollution source could turn our Earth into what is seen in the book. Include reasons for your answers.
